Minnesota Crop Improvement Association

Serving Minnesota Agriculture for nearly a century

Minnesota Crop Improvement Association (MCIA) is one of Minnesota's oldest agricultural organizations. It was organized in 1903 by researchers at the University of Minnesota, who invited farmers interested in having improved varieties of crop plants available for sale as seed to meet together in the Territorial Pioneers Log Cabin on the State Fair grounds. The new organization was originally named the "Minnesota Field Crop Breeders Association." Its founders adopted as their first objective, "To give systematic encouragement to the use of pedigreed seed." At the 1913 annual meeting, the name of the organization was changed to Minnesota Crop Improvement Association.

To meet the objective of encouraging the use of pedigreed seed, quality assurance systems (eventually called seed certification) were implemented to control the production of high-quality seed products. The first known record of seed certification in the United States occurred in 1906, when a few small bags of Grimm alfalfa seed with documented proof of varietal purity were shipped from the Minnesota Agricultural Experiment Station (MAES) to a Colorado seed firm. The first directory of Minnesota growers with inspected and approved seed for sale was published in 1912.

Today MCIA is a nonprofit association whose primary mission is to improve the productivity, profitability and competitive position of its members. It is governed by a board of directors and operates on fees charged for services. Though independent of government ownership, the Minnesota Department of Agriculture and the MAES officially recognize MCIA as Minnesota's official seed-certifying agency and official noxious-weed-seed-free forage and mulch certifying agency.

In recent years MCIA program offerings have expanded from seed certification of field crops to a broad array of certification programs that include native grasses and forbs, and various forest reproductive materials. In addition, several more specialized seed quality assurance programs have been introduced that assure the quality of seed products not eligible for statutory seed certification programs, including the third-party verification of the presence of various genetically modified traits, such as Roundup Ready.

In addition to providing seed certification and related quality assurance services to its members, MCIA is the foundation seed organization in Minnesota, with the responsibility to maintain and increase parent stocks of varieties developed at the MAES. It also provides similar kinds of services to several private seed companies who require small parent seed increases of varieties prior to engaging in large commercial increases. MCIA has provided foundation seed services to the MAES for more than 40 years. MCIA's role in the delivery of new varieties to Minnesota agriculture through its foundation seed increase programs was expanded in 2000 to include responsibility as the exclusive licensing agent for varieties developed at the MAES that are licensed to private entities.

Gary M. Beil is President and CEO
Minnesota Crop Improvement Association.

As more highly differentiated traits have entered agricultural production systems, MCIA has implemented new programs based on the sound principles of traditional seed certification, but applied to certifying that the true genetic identity of traits entering the food chain is maintained. These Identity Preserved (IP) programs provide third-party verification that certain valuable genetic traits are present at the level necessary to add significant value to the end product. These programs also are capable of certifying that the grain entering the food chain is free of specific genetic contamination within accepted tolerances.

The newest program offering from MCIA is organic certification. MCIA has filed an application to become an accredited organic certifier with the USDA's National Organic Program, and with the State of Minnesota. Upon accreditation by the USDA, MCIA will be able to offer organic certification services to the increasing number of members who chose to be involved in organic production.

MCIA is a charter member of the Association of Official Seed Certifying Agencies (AOSCA), an international organization of seed-certifying bodies that assists in the development and coordination of standards for its programs, and provides international tag recognition for the shipment of seed products between AOSCA member counties. All MCIA seed and grain certification programs are endorsed by AOSCA.

In 2003 MCIA will complete a century of experience and integrity in serving Minnesota agriculture. MCIA is committed to continuing its legacy of service as new production systems and value-added opportunities emerge in the future, thereby helping Minnesota producers to be more competitive, productive and profitable. That is our mission!

Sources of Registered and Certified Seed

The listing of Minnesota Crop Improvement Association Member-growers with certified seed for sale in 2002 that follows is provided as a service to prospective seed buyers. It is not to be construed as an offer for sale by the grower and is not to be considered as public advertising or as the posting of public notice in any manner. Growers who wish to promote and sell seed in Minnesota must comply with all current state regulations governing seed sales.

Notice to Seed Buyers

Should you ever suspect misrepresentation, mislabeling or violation of regulations under which certified seed classes are produced and marketed, contact MCIA at 800-510-6242.

While MCIA cannot assume financial responsibility for the performance of seed purchased from sources listed, or for disagreements over sales that may arise from this list, any complaint about certified seed received by MCIA will be investigated.

Should a claim over seed performance involving MCIA arise, it must be addressed as provided in Minnesota Department of Agriculture Rules for Arbitration of Seed Performance Disputes.

The seller of certified seed must supply seed representative of the samples submitted to, and approved for certification by, MCIA. Seed purchasers should insist on certification being complete, with certified seed tags attached to bags or a bulk sale certificate furnished with bulk seedlots.

Growers with Certified and Registered seed for sale in 2002. Please contact growers directly for information on seed quantity and price.
